READ BEFORE ORDERING

Remittance must accompany all orders.

Stamps accepted for small amounts.

No orders accepted for less than 50c.

Not less than 6 bulbs of one kind at dozen rates; 50 at 100 rates.

Don't hesitate to order a long list of single bulbs if you wish. We fill hundreds of just such lists.

ALL ORDERS SENT PREPAID, except those at the prices per 100 which are considered wholesale orders. Retail orders (single bulbs to dozen lots, collections, etc.) usually sent parcel post. Wholesale orders usually go express collect. Mixed orders of both retail and wholesale items will generally be shipped express collect, with extra bulbs included free to help pay express. Cultural directions are included free with every order for gladiolus.

Send in your order EARLY, as some varieties are sold out quickly. Order in January, February or early March, if possible, so as to get the very best stock. We book the order and send the bulbs in the spring. As a rule, winter orders go out in March, and March orders in April. Southern orders sent any safe weather after February 15th. Although early orders are preferable, we are filling orders satisfactorily all through May and up to late June.

Safe arrival guaranteed anywhere in the U. S. A.

All my bulbs are good blooming size unless otherwise stated. Many are extra large and heavy. I do not sell the smaller sizes or bulblets. All varieties are labeled (except the Economy Collection and Mixtures).

I exert the greatest care to keep all stock true to name, sound and strong, and will replace any stock that may prove untrue to name or refund amount received for same. My stock is state inspected.

CULTURE OF GLADIOLUS

If you can grow potatoes you can grow Gladiolus. Plant in any good garden soil as soon as ground is workable up to the first of June. If several plantings are made at different times the season of bloom will be lengthened. Do not plant in shade of trees or buildings, and do not allow fresh manure to come in direct contact with bulbs. Use well-rotted manure, commercial fertilizer, wood ashes, or bone meal, well mixed with the soil. Set the bulbs five to six inches deep in rows and about three to four inches between each bulb. Rows about 18 inches apart. Or may be massed in beds about four inches apart each way. If planted in quantity and to be cultivated with a horse make rows 30 to 36 inches apart. Keep soil loose and free from weeds. When cutting flower spike let at least four leaves remain on the plant to allow the bulb to mature properly. Dig bulbs in the fall, cut off tops, and after drying in the open air for a few days store away in a dry, cool but frost proof place in the cellar.

On account of its good keeping qualities the Gladiolus surpasses all other flowers for cutting purposes, and in order to obtain the utmost pleasure from the blooms you should place them in vases in the house. The Gladiolus is particularly adapted to table decoration. Cut the spike in the morning or evening when the first bud opens, leaving at least four leaves on the plant to mature the bulb. Change the water daily, remove the withered portions, and cut (on a slant) an inch or so from the end of each stem. Every bud will open one by one to the very top, and a vase of blooms may be kept fresh and beautiful for a week or ten days.

My bulbs are all treated for disease prevention and are free from Thrips. (See page 13). Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

A PORTION OF ONE OF MY FIELDS SHOWING THE RANK GROWTH OF STALKS

TIME REQUIRED TO BLOOM

The number of days required to bloom depends on the latitude, weather, kind of soil, size of bulbs, depth of planting, etc., so that I consider the tables given by some growers as unreliable. I prefer to class them as EE—extra early; E—early; EM—early medium; M—medium; LM—late medium; and L—late. An early variety will take about 70 to 75 days; medium, 85 days; and late, 95 days. These figures, however, are only approximate.

DID THRIPS BOTHER YOU?

During the past three years an insect called the "Gladiolus Thrip" has been giving some trouble in certain parts of the country. If you failed to obtain good bloom last summer, the flowers having a stunted withered appearance, or possibly the buds drying up before the flowers had a chance to come out, the chances are that Thrips were to blame. These insects are so small that they easily escape notice altogether, even where the plants are carefully examined. The young are almost too small to be seen with the unaided eye. The very young are straw color, the half-grown are orange, and the adults are black except for cream-colored bases of the wings. This pest comes in the wind from neighboring gardens or fields, breeds on the plants, and goes down on the bulbs in the fall and winters over on the bulbs in storage.

When the plants have become so infested that the damage is quite noticeable spraying is not effective for the reason that the insects are under the leaf or bud sheaths where the spray cannot reach them. Preventative treatment, therefore, should begin with the bulbs in storage to kill both thrips and eggs, and then follow up with a spray to get the migrating insects, which may come to you from nearby fields, before they have a chance to get under the leaf and bud sheaths. So here's what to do, if you are located in a thrip area, and have reason to expect trouble:

After your bulbs have been cleaned of the old bulbs and roots, which operation is best done in early December after they have been cured a few weeks, sprinkle Naphthalene Flakes over the bulbs at the rate of about 1 oz. to 100 bulbs in a paper bag, tray or box, and let stand a month or two.

If your bulbs have become scabby or diseased, they may be benefited and possibly cured by the following process: In the spring, just before planting, pour almost boiling water over 1 oz. corrosive sublimate (poison) in an earthen or wood dish, just enough to dissolve it. Add this solution to 5 or 6 gals. lukewarm water, avoiding a metal container. Soak your bulbs in this solution for 2 hours and then plant as they are. This treatment will also kill any thrips and eggs which may be on your bulbs, but does not completely take the place of the naphthalene flakes, as the flakes kill during the winter before the insects have a chance to breed in storage.

A spray to protect your plants from thrip infestation from nearby fields or gardens may be made by dissolving 1 rounded tablespoonful Paris Green (poison) and 2 lbs. brown sugar in 3 gals. water. Spray every week or so.

An 8-page leaflet entitled "The Gladiolus Thrips", containing more complete information, with illustrations of the insect, pictures of damage to plants and bulbs, etc., will be mailed for 10c in stamps. This may be of great value to you.

Will mail a box of Naphthalene Flakes sufficient to treat 1000 bulbs for 25c. This price includes postage to Zone 4. More distant points, 5c extra. Write for price in quantity.

DAHLIAS

No garden is complete without at least a few choice Dahlias. These handsome flowers are easily grown, and reward the gardener with gorgeous blooms. Plant in May or early June, at least 3 ft. apart, and about 5 inches deep, laying the tuber flat, with the eye or sprout within a couple of inches of a stake previously driven. Light soil preferred, not too rich. Lighten heavy soils with peat moss, sand or coal ashes. Keep fertilizer from direct contact with tuber. After frost kills the plant, dig the clump, being careful not to break the necks of the tubers, and store in dry earth, sand or peat moss, in a cool but frost-proof cellar. Divide the clump into single tubers in the spring before planting.

TALL BEARDED IRIS

(German Iris)

The popularity of the Iris appears to be increasing. They are very easy to grow, adapting themselves to almost any soil or situation but preferring well drained soil and a sunny exposure. They are very hardy and once planted will last for years, needing only to be divided and reset every few years as they multiply and become crowded. Nearly all are fragrant. Plant not over one inch deep. A little lime is good.

The Iris has been wonderfully improved so that we now have nearly all the colors of the rainbow. The best time to plant is July to September. Deliveries begin about the middle of July.

In comparison to the heavy blooms of the Tall Bearded or German Iris, the Siberians have smaller flowers, but there are more of them to the plant, and on their tall slender stems they appear more butterfly-like and graceful. They bloom a little later than the bearded, and are among the best for cut flowers. Clumps very compact, with flowers massed at the top. Very hardy, multiply fast, and will thrive on dry soil, but prefer moist location. Full sun or half shade. Good for rockery and about the pool. Delivery spring or fall.

A popular and easily grown perennial. Thrives in any sunny position or soil, with little or no protection. Strong and vigorous, bearing a profusion of flowers during summer and fall.

Portola Hybrids—This is the finest strain of Gaillardias we know of. Many petaled flowers, often 3 inches across, of rich bronzy red, tipped with border of golden yellow. Long stems and fine for cutting. Strong divisions, sure to grow, 25c each; $2.00 per doz., prepaid.

CHINESE LANTERN

Hardy perennial, growing about 2 ft. high, and bearing bright orange scarlet lantern-like pods which when cut will last the whole winter. Popular for house decoration. Roots should be planted flat and covered 3 inches. 15c each; $1.25 per doz., prepaid.

PEAT MOSS

Up-to-date flower growers keep a supply of imported Peat Moss constantly on hand. By its use heavy soils are made more friable, mellow, less likely to bake, and better aerated. Light sandy soils hold moisture better. Good for mulching. Peat Moss with some fertilizer added, and a little lime, makes an excellent substitute for stable manure, with the advantage of being free from weed seeds. Keep on hand a mixture of $\frac{1}{2}$ sifted garden soil, $\frac{1}{4}$ sand, and $\frac{1}{4}$ peat moss. Use this for seed sowing, transplanting, and potting. Peat Moss is the modern medium for packing and storing Cannas, Dahlias, etc. Clean, odorless and pleasant to handle.

Comes in compressed bales which will "fluff up" into about 20 bushels. We have this product shipped to you by freight direct from the wharf in New York Harbor, which accounts for our low price. Most houses get from $3 to $4 per bale.

1 bale, $2.75; 2 bales, $5.00; 5 bales, $11.25
